

To some very special people,
That I met the other day
They listened and respected,
All I had to say.

Their kindness overflowing,
And their love reached out to me,
To know that they are always there,
Helps me to clearly see.

These are the people in this World,
Who make things such a nicer place.
I met them just the other day
I was made to feel I did belong in the human race

Their untold story, and their love
Will reach the whole World wide
Their loveliness and helpfulness,
Will always be their guide.

So when I went and met them
Just the other day,
I was completely overwhelmed
With what they had to say.

I would like to thank them all so very, very much,
Their kindness and their love meant so much to me
They are more than Angels helping,
And they meant the world you see.

So to each and everyone of you
I would really like say
The biggest thank you ever
When I met you just the other day.
